Feminist Perspectives in entrepreneurship, governance and management.
Breaking barriers.
Mariasole Bannò, Giorgia M. D’Allura (Edited by)

Abstract - This is a thought-provoking book that delves into the challenges faced by women in entrepreneurship and management positions, examining obstacles through a feminist lens. The book goes beyond traditional gender norms to explore how gender impacts leadership roles across various governance models and countries. Through in-depth research and analysis, the contributions shed light on the disparities in representation and opportunities for women in top-echelon positions. The book offers valuable insights by exploring women's experiences in diverse contexts. It proposes strategies to break down barriers and foster gender diversity in upper echelons of business and management worldwide. It serves as a compelling resource for anyone interested in promoting gender equity and inclusivity in upper-echelon roles across different societal structures and geographical locations.

The book is addressed (as guidelines for contributors)
- Academics and Researchers: Scholars and researchers in gender studies, management, entrepreneurship, organizational behavior, and leadership.
- Business Leaders and Executives: Executives and leaders in various industries interested in promoting gender diversity and inclusion in their organizations.
- Policy Makers
- Faculty and students in business schools and management programs studying issues related to gender, entrepreneurship and management.
